Why This Seminar?

It's just been over a year since online classes started and the students are asking me the questions I have been asked at least a hundred times over the years-

“ Ma'am, why do we have to Study?”

I sense the underlying emotions beneath the question.

The boredom of online classes, the frustration of solving problems and completing assignments, the fear, and anxiety over the uncertainty of exams.

Many parents say they understand what their child is going through and have no clue how to support their child.

Some are even contemplating Homeschooling the youngsters.

In response to the new challenges we are all facing due to the pandemic, Paatashaala relaunches

Help Me Learn My Way - a Seminar series aimed at peaceful parenting.

These seminars will help in the following ways

- how to teach in a way the child enjoys learning.
- to identify the learning style of your child.
- to teach concepts for a child struggling with a particular subject.
- how to create a safe space for communication
- how to make mathematics easier for the child
- how to enhance the skills of reading, spellings, and expressive language.
- the key to the holistic development of a child.
